WE had in yesterday's paper again to record the seizure of a junk leaving Hongkong, under circumstances which leave room to believe that there was the greatest irregularity practiced in the capture. Of course it will be too much to imagine that anything will pretty much what they like as to seizures. It is clear, however, that the policy of late Christmas next. adopted by the Local Government amounts to giving up the whole matter to the Chinese, and withdrawing even the semblance of protection from the junks trading with this Colony. There may be grave State reasons for adopting this course; but it is well to recognise fully the price which we are paying for keeping up this eminently conciliatory policy with the Chinese. It is nothing less than placing the junk trade under the rule of the Chinese; and permitting them to coerce vessels leaving this port in any way they think most to their advantage. The manner in which pressure of this kind is mastership of Freemasons. brought to bear is of the most unscrupulous character, and is such that no junk is cafe from exactions or even from confiscation, and it appears that all the shippers by junks in the Colony run similar risks. If one of the revenue cruisers or of the Mandarin junks under their protection overtake a junk on which there is found a small article of contraband, the junk and the whole cargo are held liable to seizure, and this has actually been done in many cases. It is true that this extraordinary practice seems to be the unjust in the extreme. The effect of it, wo learn, has been to open the door to a system. of squeezing of a most oppressive character. It seems that a ruse of a peculiarly Chinese nature is frequently put into practice, by which junks and cargoes are seized, actually unother, in the Queen's Boad, was fined $1. without any semblance of a just cause. A junk being about to leave Hongkong, an accomplice of the searching junks applies to ship a package of some sort, and sends some pluskets or other contraband goods on board without informing the junk man of their nature. The junk is stopped the moment she leaves the harbour, and the single case of contraband goods is held to be sufficient to justify the seizure of the whole of the cargo as well as the ship. This ruse, it is next. perhaps needless to say, is carried out without the cognisance of the captains of the for non-delivery of clothing in the defendant's foreign-commanded cruisers, but they are made the unwitting means of carrying out this system of plunder—us it can be called little else. The seizure is made by them under the idea that it is bond fide, and they and the Chinese get a considerable share of the value of the ships and cargoes thus taken. It is impossible for the junks to steer clear of this kind of persecution, except by matters to the latter point, when they will be able to raise just as much revenue as they please upon the trade of Hongkong. It is quite possible, however, that in some cases this may not at present be feasible, or it may not be to the interests of the cruisers and the native boats in conjunction with them to come to any compromise at all, and in that case of course no quarter is shown. Howover this may be, there is no doubt that in a l Colony. How such a system is allowed to regard to it, it is difficult to understand except upon the supposition that the Home Government are deliberately determined to sacrifico the interests of Hongkong to their general policy with China, and have sent out both here and at Canton to adopt that course,

The "alterations" which are reported to have been ordered in "the arrangements of the forecastle " of the brig Dread nought have certainly not been promaturely directed. It appears from the evidence taken on an inquest beld at the Bull Inn. Barking, that the vessel in question was being loaded with patout manure from the works of Messrs. Lawes, and that part of the cargo consists of a mixture of superphosphate of lime and nitrate of soda, which is known to give off highly irritating and dangerous fumes of nitrio soid gas. One Saturday morning, when the mate went to call his three men, he found castle dead or dying, apparently from suffocation. They were brought on deck, but all the forecastle were found closed, and from

Some of the rules are identical, word for word, with existing regulations, but it has in most cases been properly chosen to repeat the clauses, instead of referring to them. This plan might, perhaps, with advantage have been still more thoroughly carried out. On the whole we do not think the melancholy anticipations which have been expressed by many practitioners will be realized by very great difficulties being found on working the new system. THISTLEDOWN. JAN ENGLISH BURAL CUSTON. Long ago—a little girl. Smooth of cheek and dark of curl, Like my daughter's, nearly-I gathered for my bridgi bed Many a thorny thistle head : Before the flying tufts were shed, And saved them up so dearly,

O the happy days and dreams! Endless Present-lit with gleams Of a wonderous Future Day, and week, and month, and year, Glide - and what know you, my dear?
and what know I? O little sphere Of every mortal creature!

Life has pleasure, life has pain Passing, not to come easin. Blackest hours and brightest. Time takes all things, all must go : Bygoues vanish-is it so? Gone and lost for ever? No! Not the least and lightest.

In Age we lough at dreams of Youth, rru Age's dreams more like the truth? And what is life but feeling? The world is something, none can doubt. But no one finds its scoret out. To childhood, and to souls devout, Come the best revealing.

Gay at heart are you my child Gathering downy thistles wild: Cares nor fears oppress thee;
Gathering up, for joy, for mean,
When all these Autumns too, are flown, The bed that you must be upon. God protect and bless thes! ...
